

Leadership Development Programme

Research has shown that we remember 5% of what we hear, 25% of what we see and 95% of what we do. PML's Leadership development programme is designed around delegates participation in exercises leading to greater understanding and long lasting meaningful change. Built upon 4 modules of intense, dynamic delivery and participation this programme will equip you for success in these unprecedented times by addressing the challenges and improving motivation and morale.

The 4 modules will provide an all around new holistic vibrancy to how you interact and perform within your organisation.

You can only be heard if they listen

Learn how to communicate with others simply by using your words and body differently. How well you communicate, present and negotiate will ultimately determine the quality of your life. Studies show, that your ability to communicate with others will determine 85% of your success in your business and in your life.

Motivational Momentum

This interactive workshop identifies excellent performance and demonstrates how achieving goals comes from the choices we make. These choices enable our development of behavioural strategies to make positive transformations.

The Persuaders

You influence others every time you communicate be it with a colleague, a customer or a loved one. You are selling your point of view in a way that they will understand and accept your idea. In business maximising your influencing skills successfully will mean increased sales and benefit to you.

The Ultimate Team

Every member of a team has a positive view as to how to improve the service that they provide, often these are conflicting. We will explore the issues which affect the performance of the team and prevent maximisation of results. This interactive and highly participatory event will drive the individual team members to consider all working styles and how to deliver benefit from them.
